Social problem

Talk of Privilege

Once I read in a newspaper, American president is going to Bahamas on a vacation. Who is the first American president which comes to your mind when we say American president? Is it Trump? Is it Biden? What if I am going to use a sentence: Black American president is going to Bahamas on a vacation. This is talk of unprivilege. The one and only black American president was Obama. Normally in newspapers are specified non-standardized things such as the color of the skin for the first American president. Slovak madam president and black American president are going on a vacation to Bahamas.

Why do we as a society specify non-standardized things even if it's not your fault you are a black male or you are a female president?

Two men are looking for a job. They are mostly the same but one of them is a homosexual. They are trying to apply to Amazon. Amazon and other monpostal companies are using the strategy of "tokenising". If we expect both of them to have the same qualification and communication skills they would hire the homosexual. As they hired a homosexual now Amazon can proudly say we are homosexual friendly. In everyday society the homosexuals are less privileged than the heterosexuals

Do you think social rules are the thing which should lead you to make your own opinion? The main thing which should lead you to better life is to accept not-standardized things and differences such as the sexual orientation, color of your skin and others. People should not feel banished out of the society, Would it be comfortable for you? Please accept the differences.

Fairytale

The Missing Princess

Once upon a time there was a kingdom and in the kingdom there lived a king and queen with their daughter, princess Sophia. She was young and very beautiful.

One day a three-headed dragon came to the kingdom and took her away. He brought her to his cave and kept her there. Sophia's parents were very scared and promised anyone who will find her half of the kingdom. Many young knights went to look for her but they never came back. But one day a young handsome prince decided that he was going to find her. He travelled for seven days and seven nights until he finally came to the dragon's cave. When dragon didn't want to let her go so the prince had to fight him. It was a really long and exhausting fight but the prince managed to win and kill the dragon. Then he took the princess back to the kingdom. Sophia's parents were very happy that she was home again. There was a big wedding and Sophia and the prince got married.

They lived happily ever after.

Culture

World's Biggest Food Fight

Have you ever thought about participating in a food fight? Annually on the last Wednesday in August there's a tomato throwing festival in Spain called La Tomatina. Its celebrations started in the 1940s but its origins are unknown to people with the exceptions of a few myths. From the beginning, you were not allowed to throw anything but tomatoes. And to avoid hurting other people, you should squash the vegetables. Tossing tomatoes directly at buildings and tearing clothes is considered to be unethical. But most importantly you should have fun!

- 120 metric tones of tomatoes are used for one festival, which is one hour long
- local people and people from all around the world can participate, but they must be over 18 years old
- helpful advice: if you plan to take pictures - BRING WATERPROOF CAMERA!
- be careful with your phone, ID, etc., there is always the possibility of theft

Fairytale
The Three-legged cat

Once upon a time in a land far away, there lived a three-legged cat with black fur, and she struggled every day. She was a homeless cat and people were afraid of her, because they believed that black cats caused curses and bad luck. People have been avoiding her, and some even went as far as trying to kill her. The village in which she lived was definitely not a happy place.

One day, an old lady decided to set up a bowl of food filled with rat poison on her front porch in order to kill the cat. The cat was so hungry that she let down her guard and decided to go for it. As she was about to take a bite, a skinny street rat ran up to her and said:

"Do not eat it! It's poisoned!"

"Who are you? And how can you know that?" the cat asked.

"This lady killed my brother too... He ate from the bowl and the next morning he dropped dead," the rat answered. The cat wasn't convinced. She hissed.

"There's no way I'm trusting you, I barely even know you. Now go away or else!"

She swung her paw at the rat until it hesitantly ran away. Still, she didn't eat anything, just in case the rat was right. She'd rather be hungry than dead.

The next morning, there were 7 dead mice lying next to the bowl. The cat could not believe her eyes. "Oh my god, the rat was telling the truth!" the cat stated. "I have to go apologise right now..." And so she went looking for the rat.

While walking down the street, she suddenly heard a squeak:

"Help me! Help!"

The voice sounded oddly familiar. The cat decided to go and find out what was happening. She was getting closer and closer and the voice was growing louder and louder, until she finally saw who it belonged to. It was the rat's voice. Its left leg was stuck in a mousetrap and it couldn't get out. When it noticed the cat, its eyes widened.

"Please don't kill me!" it squealed.

"Don't worry I won't kill you!" said the cat.

She had no intention of killing it. She managed to quickly free the rat. Its leg was still bleeding a bit, but the wound was slowly starting to close up.

"Thank you so much!" the rat said gratefully.

"You are very welcome," the cat answered, "I owed you one after you saved my life yesterday."

After that, the cat offered the rat to join her in her daily struggles. They found out that even though they were of different sizes and animal species, they were much more alike than they had thought.

And from that day on, they lived side by side happily ever after.

Fairytale
Three Little Elves

Once upon a time, there were three little elves living in a cozy cottage deep in an enchanted winter forest.

One cold snowy night, the oldest of them went outside to bring some wood to light up the fireplace. There was ice everywhere, so he walked carefully. All of a sudden, he unexpectedly slipped on ice while reaching for a log. His two little friends heard a loud noise and someone crying. They ran outside immediately. "Poor little elf!" they said at the same time. Suddenly a brave, strong-looking wolf showed up. He introduced himself: "Hello, my name is Alpha and I am the strongest wolf living in this forest. I could sense you needed help." Each elf's eyes were sparkling because of how amazed they were by him. The wolf started to pull the elf from the pile of wood logs, but nothing moved. The two other elves were not strong enough to get him out of there, but they were smart enough to make a plan. "What if we put the logs aside one by one?" said one of them. "What a good idea!" the other one responded. Despite not having enough strength, they managed to rescue him. They noticed the little elf's leg was still bleeding. The Alpha remembered he had a magic plant and ran as fast as he could. Not even fifteen minutes passed and he came back with the rare plant. He put the plant on the injured spot and out of nowhere some light and sparkles appeared and on the injured spot and it was completely healed. The little elf stood up and hugged the wolf. "You saved me!" he said, as he was hugging him. They asked him to stay a bit longer and drink some tea with them. He refused and said: "I have a problem to solve in this forest, but expect me to visit you someday." So, they went inside and drank some tea to celebrate that the oldest one is okay and nothing serious happened.

After that, they lived happily ever after and the Alpha visited them every once in a while.

Fairytale Blessed or cursed?

Once upon a time there was a kingdom. This kingdom was filled with extremely beautiful people. Someone would even say that God blessed them with their looks. Or was it actually a curse?

The king and queen were expecting a baby. One night there was a full moon, which meant that it was the time bad and cruel witch came out to our world. The same night the baby was born. It was a gorgeous babygirl. Her name was Aurora. Later that night Aurora was peacefully sleeping in her bed. Suddenly a witch flew around on her broom around the castle. She looked through a window and spotted the new born baby. She came closer to Aurora. When she saw her she could swear on her life that she had never seen anything more beautiful. After all Aurora was a princess of the kingdom of beauty. But as I said before the witch was evil. So she got the idea of setting a curse on the poor girl. "Everyone who looks in her blue eyes will fall in love with her immediately." And the only cure for this curse is that she must find a prince that has this same exact curse and look him straight in the eye. Only then she will be freed from this curse. After she said those words she evilly laughed and then there was a white flash of light and the witch disappeared.

The next day everyone woke up excited to meet their new princess. When the king and queen showed her to people, the whole kingdom started going crazy.

Everyone became obsessed with her, but nobody knew that was happening. Then suddenly an old maid approached the royal family. She told them that she had heard the witch setting a curse on Aurora. When they heard how to break the curse, they called every boy from whole kingdom. Everyone who looked in her beautiful blue eyes fell in love.

This was going on for years. Aurora was 17 and soon she would be turning 18. The king and queen had tried everything but nothing and nobody would break the curse. They became hopeless while every one was madly in love with Aurora. The poor girl had to start wearing a blindfold so the already bad situation wouldn't become worse. One night Aurora thought that it needs to stop. She decided to leave the kingdom for good. She packed her necessities and without anyone knowing, she left the town

She travelled 3 night and 3 days until she found a little and abandoned cottage. She thought that she could settle down there after continuing her journey. Aurora saw a big bed in the cottage which looked really comfortable. She decided she could use some sleep so she lay down and fell asleep. But the cottage was not abandoned as Aurora had thought. The witch that set a curse on Aurora lived there. She just was not at home that day. Although when the witch came home and saw the girl sleeping peacefully in her bed she was furious. But suddenly an idea popped up in her evil little brain. She put a spell around the house so Aurora won't be able to leave. Yes, you're right. The witch decided to make Aurora her personal slave.

When the girl woke up it was like the hell on Earth. The witch made her do all the chores around the house while she was just sleeping and shoring so loudly that even a deaf person would hear it. And when Aurora refused to do some work because she was so exhausted the witch beat her up until she could not stand. This went on for one year and a half

Suddenly a young and handsome prince was riding on horse. He heard the screams that were coming from that cottage. He got curious so he stopped for a while and listened. After a while the screams stopped and the witch left the house. The prince was hiding behind a tree. When he was sure that the witch was gone he went to that cottage. He saw a young girl crying on a bed.

He approached her and sat on the bed. She looked up straight in his eyes.

Suddenly there was a white flash and everyone in the kingdom stopped obsessing over the beautiful princess. "Wait, did you have the same curse as me?" Aurora asked. "Yes, and i am so happy that it is finally gone. My whole kingdom was going crazy since i was born," the prince said. "My name is Ryan, by the way," he said. "My name is Aurora, nice to meet you," Aurora said. They would continue getting to know each other but they heard that the witch was already at home. Ryan helped Aurora to jump out of the window and then came after her. "Oh i forgot the witch cast a spell so i will not be able to run away." Aurora sighed. "And what if the white flash that broke our curse also broke this spell?" Ryan asked. "I don't know but let's try" with that words Aurora tried to step out of the area. It worked. They quickly jump on Ryan's horse and together they ran away to Ryan's kingdom.

When they came there Ryan's mother immediately informed Aurora's parents. They were so happy that their lost daughter had been finally found. Later on they got married and had 2 beautiful kids. They never heard about the evil witch ever again, and they lived happily ever after

Sea of Legends

Once upon a time in the vast space of the universe there was a planet, which was oddly blue oddly small and oddly silent . The reasoning behind this was , that almost the whole surface of the planet was swallowed by the oceans. But there were still places of fertile lands amongst the waters and in those lands our protagonist lives , his name being Kara .

Kara was a normal ordinary child which learned from the elderly fisherman how to gather food and from the elderly women how to prepare it . Kara went on with this life until the day he became sixteen . On the night he turned sixteen a goddess visited him with a godly message , that was destined for him . As he listened to the message he slowly drifted to sleep . And for the ones who may be wondering about the message , this is how the message went :

Kara this story is whispered in the wind, preserved by the sea, moved by its currents but the sea moves in ways you do not yet understand. Storms will rage, ships will burst asunder, you will find yourself lost and alone. the wind may guide you if you listen. You will face starvation and battle extraordinary beasts. Blessings will be bestowed upon you for your courage. You will become the warrior you were destined to be. The mysteries of these islands will test your will and there will come a day when your spirit is on the edge of despair, only then will you be ready to breathe the storm. The tides will turn and you will be afraid. No more whispers no more guidance only fate remains.

Kara woke up all confused , trying to figure out what was that about , but when he came to his senses he realised that something was wrong , he looked out and there was nothing, no-one , silence , it was like everybody ceased to exist and sure, they did . Suddenly Kara got teleported to a whole another world which was filled with extraordinary beasts . After a short while of doing nothing and being scared , he realised that there was just one thing left for him there , that being his destiny . Kara went onto a journey, fought beasts like Gorehorn Hookmouth and killed the being that imprisoned and sentenced him to this trial . After this Kara woke up in his bed confused , questioning himself . Was it just a dream ? Or was it reality ? To this day he still doesn't know and it's safe to say he will never do.

Interview
Luke Cooper - Life

This is an interview with our amazing lecturer Luke Cooper, who comes from England. We have communication lessons with him and discuss various topics.

1. What was growing up in the UK like?

I don't know what makes it specifically a British experience but it was great, actually. The 80s were really good time 'cause it was a good time for popular culture as well, great movies, great toys, He-man, Action Force, Star Wars figures. Yeah, so it was fun.

2. Were you a good student when you were young?

I would say very average. You know the person who stays quiet at the back of the room, doesn't want to answer lot of questions, that's me. I was a C student, so that's something between 2 and 3. But when it was stuff I could choose to study like drama or English literature I was better.

3. What was your dream profession as a child?

I don't know about when I was a child but as I was growing up, I started getting into comics and music so I wanted to do something artistic so I wanted to be a comic creator or in a band and it sort of came true. I was in a band, we did one gig, one festival, released one CD and then split up. And these days I do make comics, so yes I'm a comic artist, I'm published but no, I don't make any money from it.

4. Why did you decide to move to Slovakia?

I met my wife in England, and I always knew she would want to return to Slovakia and my feeling was: "OK there are two choices here: I lose her or I figure out a way I can go with her.", and I didn't have a great job, I worked in a warehouse which wasn't a brilliant job. I loved my family but my friendships weren't great about time. So basically it was to follow my wife here so I could be with her.

5. Did you have any experience with teaching before you moved here?

Not really, but I was never far away from school cause when I finished school I didn't bother going to university straight afterwards and I got a job instead. But then in my 20s I went to university and seeing how the college lecturers worked, maybe that's why I'm so open and friendly with my students because I relate more to these lecturers, I love the way they dealt with students and I kind of wanted to be like that. And then it was about what could I offer to people if I move to a foreign country - English language.

6. Do you have any free time activities?

Well as I said before I do my comics, I write and draw my own comic books that I sent to a British publisher. It is mainly digital stuff, I used to draw pencil in the old days but these days I like photography.

7. If you could have any superpower what would you choose?

Because I have to travel to and from England a lot, I wish I could transport myself from one place to the other without having to catch a plane take a bus, deal with airports, deal with any of that. I love travelling but I don't like the journey part, I like being in a new place, though.

Fairytale
The Berry Tree

Once upon a time there was a small elf village in the middle of a forest. In that village there lived an elf called Milo. He had to work hard, collecting berries in the forest. He was not enjoying it and he really desired some adventure, but his parents were so strict and they did not let him out of the village.

One day when he was collecting berries all by himself, a beautiful fairy appeared. She had gone for walk from town by the forest, where she lived. "Hi I am El." she said. She asked him if she can take some of his berries and as he was very generous, he said yes without hesitation. Her and Milo became friends quickly, but eventually they fell in love with each other. They started hanging out together secretly everyday, because Milo's parents did not want him to be distracted from work. But Milo loved El so much and he was ready to do anything for her.

Once he was with El, he decided that he does not want it to be a secret anymore. He told his parents everything about El and their relationship. His dad got very mad and kicked Milo out of their house. Even though Milo was not surprised by his dad's reaction, it still made him sad. But at the same time he was glad that he could spend more time with El. He started selling berries in the town so he could afford a place where him and El lived. After some time he decided to visit his parents. His father apologized for his previous behavior. Milo told him about his life on town. His dad was very proud of him. Since that day Milo and his parents have never argued again and him and El lived happily ever after.

Recipe

Chicken Tikka Masala

Britain has four national dishes: Chicken Tikka Masala in England, Haggis in Scotland, Welsh Cawl in Wales, and Irish Stew in Ireland. Today we will tell you how to prepare the Chicken Tikka Masala.

What is Chicken Tikka Masala?

Chicken tikka masala is a dish consisting of roasted marinated chicken chunks (chicken tikka) in spiced curry sauce. The curry is usually creamy and orange-coloured.

And now finally here's the recipe:

| Total Time | | Prep time | | Cook time |
1h 42min 20min 22min

CHICKEN MARINADE

3 boneless, skinless chicken breasts
½ cup plain yogurt (125 g)
2 tablespoons lemon juice
6 cloves garlic, minced
1 tablespoon minced ginger
2 teaspoons salt
2 teaspoons ground cumin
2 teaspoons garam masala
2 teaspoons paprika

Ingredients for 5 servings :

SPECIAL EQUIPMENT
Bamboo or wooden skewer

SAUCE

3 tablespoons oil
1 large onion, finely chopped
2 tablespoons minced ginger
8 cloves garlic, minced
2 teaspoons ground cumin
2 teaspoons ground turmeric
2 teaspoons ground coriander
2 teaspoons paprika
2 teaspoons chili powder
2 teaspoons garam masala
1 tablespoon tomato puree
3 ½ cups tomato sauce (800 g)
1 ¼ cups water (300 mL)
1 cup heavy cream (250 mL)
¼ cup fresh cilantro (10 g), for garnish cooked rice, for serving naan bread, for serving

Preparation

1. Slice the chicken into bite-sized chunks. Combine the cubed chicken with the yogurt, lemon juice, garlic, ginger, salt, cumin, garam masala, and paprika and stir until well-coated.
- 2.. Cover and refrigerate for at least 1 hour, or overnight.
3. Preheat the oven to 500°F (260°C). Line a high-sided baking pan or roasting tray with parchment paper.
4. Place the marinated chicken pieces on bamboo or wooden skewers, then set them over the prepared baking pan, making sure there is space underneath the chicken to help distribute the heat more evenly. Bake for about 15 minutes, until slightly dark brown on the edges.
5. Make the sauce: Heat the oil in a large pot over medium heat, then sauté the onions, ginger, and garlic until tender but not browned. Add the cumin, turmeric, coriander, paprika, chili powder, and garam masala and stir constantly for about 30 seconds, until the spices are fragrant. Stir in the tomato puree, tomato sauce, and 1¼ cups of water, then bring to a boil and cook for about 5 minutes. Pour in the cream.
6. Remove the chicken from the skewers and add to the sauce, cooking for another 1-2 minutes. Garnish with cilantro and serve over rice or alongside naan bread.
7. Enjoy!

Fairytale

From Dog To Prince

Once upon a time there was a dog named Inchyra. He was a big, fluffy white dog with bright blue eyes, big heart and he absolutely loved tennis balls. But Inchyra wasn't living alone. Him and a black cat Marvin had an owner. It was a very old, ugly, half-blind witch Akuji. She had an ugly face with big nose and on the top, there was a wart. Her short silver hair was at last years getting thinner. Those green eyes lost their life spark ages ago. They all together lived in a cottage very deep in the woods.

It was 13th September. That day it was very rainy and windy. Akuji was making some kind of potion. Marvin and Inchyra were patiently watching her thinking it was something to eat. 'Go to sleep guys,' said Akuji and gave them a pet. In the morning Marvin woke up to the sunny day. He turned his head to his friend and he screamed: 'Inchyra you are a person!' He immediately woke up and smashed his head to the ceiling. 'I can't believe what I see,' said Inchyra, 'This body is so different!' Akuji was standing between the door in shock but as soon as she realized she didn't know who is that person standing in the middle of her house. 'Who are you? Where is Inchyra? GET OUT!' Inchyra didn't even have a chance to say anything, she threw him in front of the door. 'What am I supposed to do now? I have nowhere to go,' cried Inchyra. 'You are not alone,' Marlin walked from the bushes, 'we will make it work. There is a city near here, I know the road.' Inchyra had tears in his eyes, he hugged Marlin and they started their long walk.

They were passing lots of trees, bushes, wild animals, it was a whole new experience. On the third day they were finally close to the end. 'That is a princess's palace! We are close!' Shouted Marlin happily. 'Who is a princess?' Asked Inchyra. 'Well, she is a beautiful young woman with long blonde hair, deep green eyes and royal blood. Her father has been trying to find a husband for her for 7 years now,' answered Marlin. Forests started to turn into fields, fields into roads. 'We are here! Inchyra welcome to the Koiland!' said Marlin. Inchyra was just looking around him. He had never ever seen something beautiful like this in his life.

The city was full of people, nature, nice houses and in the end with absolutely beautiful palace. As he was walking in the circle, he bumped into someone. 'Sorry man, I haven't seen you.' Said Inchyra without having a look into who he bumped. 'How dare are you to talk to the king like this? Who do you think you are?' Said with anger king. He was an older man with blonde hair and green eyes. 'I am so sorry sir, my name is Inchyra. I am new to the town.' Replied Inchyra. 'So Inchyra, you made me really angry. I will give you a week to get me the most beautiful painting I have ever seen. If you won't I will kill you but if you will you can marry my little princess,' said king and without waiting for a reply he left.

'Don't worry, I know the best artist. I will go to him and bring the painting. Wait for me here.' Said Marlin and left. So Inchyra sat down and kept waiting. First three days past and nothing changed. He was sitting there talking with strangers who gave him some food. 'Where is he?' said Inchyra to himself. He was there waiting with his last hour to live. 'I'm here!' shouted Marlin. 'Where have you been?' asked Inchyra. 'That is not important. Look at this.' Marlin turned the painting to him. It was absolutely perfect portrait of him. They hurried to the palace. When they came the king has been already waiting. 'So, show me Inchyra what did you bring.' Said king. Inchyra slowly turned the portrait towards him. King was looking at it in the silence for at least five minutes. 'It is absolutely perfect!' Shouted king. 'You can marry my little girl, bring her in!' Shouted king. When their eyes first met it was like explosion. Inchyra remembered her face, she was his first owner. She looked surprised; she definitely remembers too. They ran to each other arms and kissed. And they lived happily ever after.

So, this is the end of our magazine. We would like to thank you for sticking with us till this point. We hope you found something interesting or helpful here, and that our hard work paid off.

This was one of our first group projects as a collective and even though we faced some troubles on the way, we successfully overcame them and gained new experience and learned a lot about ourselves. For example, that the organization among us is not in the top-notch spot we want it to be in but we hope we can make a lot of improvements in it next year. Also we would like to point out that "all is well that ends well". And we think that it ended well for the amateurs that we are.
